favourite, I did like the more gritty and mystery-like atmosphere of Janey's narrative. Perugia seemed to be the obvious location, for it is close to Assisi - a region through which John Bradburne walked on one of his several journeys around Italy, and which he often refers to in his writing. Rip now resumed his old walks and habits; he soon found many of his former cronies, though all rather the worse for the wear and tear of time; and preferred making friends among the rising generation, with whom he soon grew into great favor.
